

CHARACTER SHEET

BASIC INFO

Name : CHLOE POPE

Pronouns: she/her & Age: 21

Title / Rank : “The Pope / Hierophant / High Priest”

In sacred halls, where ancient rites unfold,
He stands as keeper of the truths unfold.
With wisdom bound in tradition's chain,
He guides the seeker through the sacred plane.

The Hierophant: A religious figure, seated between two pillars representing law and liberty (or obedience and disobedience); symbolizes spiritual authority and wisdom

Raised Hand in Benediction: A gesture of blessing and spiritual approval

Robes & Throne: His ceremonial dress reflects the power and structure of religious or institutional authority

The Hierophant

Triple Crown & Staff: Indicate spiritual dominion over heaven, earth, and the underworld

Crossed Keys: Symbolizing access to higher knowledge and sacred mysteries — often interpreted as the keys to heaven or spiritual truth

Two Followers (Acolytes): Representing those seeking guidance or knowledge from a higher source or tradition

THE HIEROPHANT

Alternate English titles: The Pope, The High Priest, Master of the Arcanum, Master of the Sacred Mysteries
Romance language titles: Jupiter, Le Pape, Il Papa, Pontifex Pontificum
Hermetic titles: Magus of the Eternal Gods
Planet, sign, or element: Taurus ♉

Hebrew letter meaning: Nail or hook, Joining together, Making fast
Gifts and attributes: Hearing
Plants: Mallow, sage, hawthorn, linden, dandelion, lily of the valley, "straight vervain"
Trump 2, the Hierophant: In this trump the Fool learns about traditional values and moral requisites. The Hierophant, or Taroit Pope, is conservative, deliberate, traditional, proud, and orthodox. He is the carrier and transmitter of ancient wisdom and religious teaching. Astrologers associate the Hierophant with the fixed sign Taurus, the Bull. Jungians relate the Taroit Pope to the persona, or mask we wear in social interactions.
Magical weapons:
The Labor of Preparation [The Throne & Altar]
Symbolically five is a powerful number linking the four elements of air, water, fire and earth with the fifth, spirit. In the Tarot, the number five is associated with a point of tension which typically occurs when something merges and forms change. Five represents the hollowed point within a circle, common after the even knot of four; it shares the instability that is born from stability. Although five generally represents a fourth point of transition, they are to be welcomed, for without them there would be no progress. Five is depicted by the Roman numeral V, the V shape can easily be thrown over, it rocks from side-to-side in the flip of a coin. Unlike the solid four walls, four wheels etc. Here we see the move from stability into the instability.
Hanging from this: The High Priest appears to be the most broadminded and secure of all the lives. This may be due to its astrological association with the fixed sign of Taurus. In the V-shape of the Roman numeral we can see the narrow, unyielding and inflexible of Taurus, we see the feeling that it will let it. It would stand. Paradoxically maybe there is not so much possible than the resistance to change itself.

Backstory: Chloe grew up as the middle child, with two younger brothers and an older half-sister, often stepping in as the family's mediator. She jokingly called herself the "therapist friend," though it often felt like a full-time role. Since moving away for university, she's drifted from that old dynamic, forming new friendships while still naturally guiding those around her. Along the way, she's developed a subtle spiritual awareness, helping friends not just navigate challenges but also reflect on deeper meaning and balance in their lives. Chloe has a knack for sensing what people need and showing them that even in difficulty, some harmony can always be found.

Archetype: Teacher, mentor, a guide

Alignment / Philosophy: Chloe, whether or not she is aware of it, is functioning as a bridge between the divine and the mundane, translating belief into structure and stability.

"Guiding those who seek me as they cross my path."

Appearance / Style:

Height: 5'9

Brown long hair

Closet maintains a strong balance between looking good and being lazy with cozy comfy pieces

Props/Items/Accessories associated with character:

The golden keys (Sloans/other popes prop)

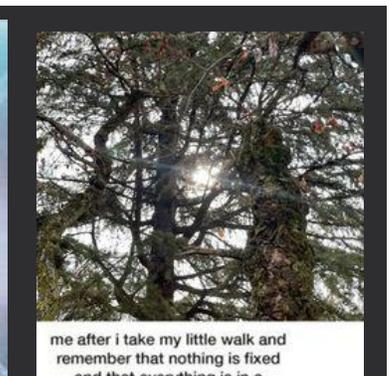

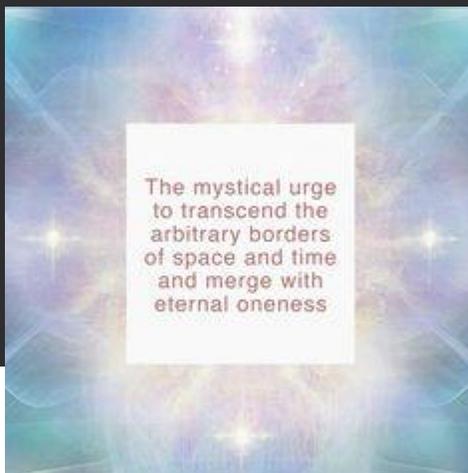

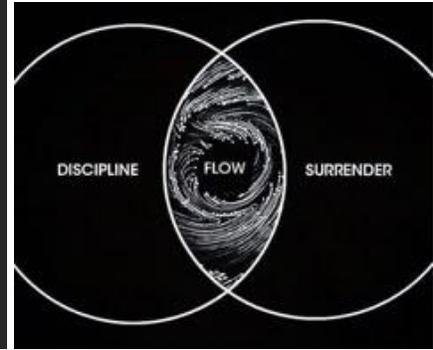

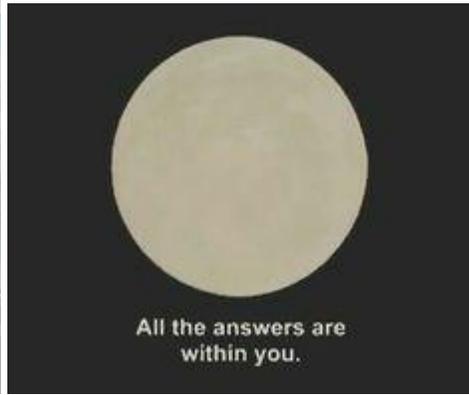

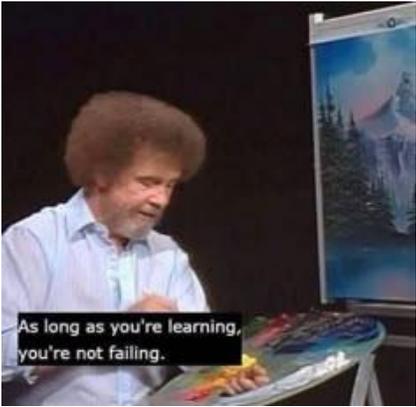

The blue veil, could be the blue scarf I have (blue veil in a spiritual context typically represents divine protection, heavenly grace, spiritual purity, and a connection to higher consciousness, reveals mystical mysteries)

The blue seems eternal
